BUSINESS OF THE COURTS.

Probate Matters to Be Considered Today by Justice Barnard.

Estate of the Late Senator McPherson, James T. Pritchard, and N. C. Bateman in Dispute—Indicted Prisoners to Be Called to Plead.

In accordance with the resignation of the Justices of the criminal divisions of the Supreme Court of the District, Justice Barnard, who will preside in Criminal Court No. 2, will today take up the consideration of probate matters. In addition to considering all the criminal business which will be presented in that branch of the court Justice Barnard will also preside in the daily sessions of the Probate Court and also hear appeal cases from Justices of the peace.

The first of the probate matters to be called up will probably be the contest over the estate of the late James T. Pritchard. He left a will in which he bequeathed all his estate to his own children and those of his sister, Mrs. Kate C. Moore, and named the American Security and Trust Company to be executor of his estate. A caveat protesting against the probating of the will was filed by Isaac Newton, guardian of the children of the deceased, on the ground that the document filed is not the last will of the father and also because they claim that he was not of sound mind at the time it was executed.

The litigation is also further complicated by a petition filed by Ellen Newton Pritchard, the widow of the testator, who asks that letters of collection be granted her. She also asks that she be allowed one-third of the revenues of the estate for life and be guardian of the personal property of her deceased husband.

The other case in the contest over the estate of Nathaniel C. Bateman, who died in 1898, is the property of the premises 255, 257, and 259 C Street, north of the city, which he owned. His children, William, James, and Mary M. C. Taylor, of this city, have filed a caveat to the probate of the will of the testator, who was not of sound mind at the time he executed his last will and testament, and also because they claim that he was not of sound mind at the time it was made under undue influence.

In Criminal Court No. 1, presided over by Judge Anderson, seven cases under indictment will be called upon today to answer the charges against them. They are George Collins and Peter Sussan, indicted jointly for grand larceny; William Palmer, charged with housebreaking; William Evans, who is under three indictments for housebreaking and larceny; Frank Barnes, charged with larceny from the United States; William Green, charged with a similar offense; and Horace Marshall, charged with larceny from the person.

It is also expected that Justice Barnard will sometime this week announce his decision in the contest over the estate of the late Senator John R. McPherson of New Jersey. When the contest was begun some time ago by Mrs. Edith J. Muir, a daughter of the testator, and the Trust Company was appointed collector for the estate, which is valued at about $750,000. Aaron S. Baldwin, who is named as executor by the testator, filed a petition in the Probate Court asking that the appointment of the American Security and Trust Company be revoked. Arguments were heard on the motion on Saturday and Justice Barnard took the matter under advisement.

There are three persons now in the District Jail under indictment for murder. The trial of one of these, Mrs. Lela Edith Henry, has been set for November 6 next, while the date for the others has not yet been fixed. The others awaiting trial are William Snowden, colored, charged with the murder of Florence Marshall, colored, and an imitation of a murder under indictment for the murder of Hallard Dent. It is believed that one of these will be called to trial during the week beginning October 15 next.

IN MEMORY OF M'KINLEY.

Services at the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer.

Services in memory of President McKinley were held last night at the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer, 1400 North Street, northwest. It was one of the most largely attended services held in any church since the death of President McKinley. The pastor, the Rev. D. E. Wiseman, had invited a number of clergymen of the white race to speak. Among them was Dr. L. M. Kubus, formerly of Canton, whose talk was composed largely of personal reminiscences and recollections of the President during their long acquaintance. The Rev. J. G. Butler, of the Lutheran Place Methodist Church, also spoke. Among the members of the congregation who talked briefly were Calvin Elmhurst and J. E. Tibbs.

BIG CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN.

Route of Today's Parade of the Great Walter Main Shows.

It was circus Sunday in Northeast Washington yesterday. In consequence a large part of the population of that section and goodly representations from other districts flocked to Thirtieth and D Streets, where the Walter L. Main Shows were getting under canvas. The usual entertainment work was varied by the arrival and addition to the menagerie during the afternoon of several animals which arrived in the country but a few days ago from Hamburg, Germany, the headquarters of the great wild animal dealer, Carl Hagenbeck.

The hundreds of persons who fully delighted when two great, lumbering elephants and a pair of clumsy young dromedaries were led into the menagerie tent. They had been but a few minutes previously taken from a train on the Pennsylvania tracks. In addition there was a large box with heavy iron grating which contained two small, but exceedingly clever specimens of gorilla. The strong grating occasionally caught a glimpse of their long teeth, fully as large as those of a lion. Though but little larger than the wild, developed African monkey, they have been known to attack and dispatch beasts of the jungle much larger than themselves.

The elephants are the only "working" animals ever imported to this country. "Working" elephants are those by the aid of which animal dealers are enabled to catch other elephants. They are leaders in their native herds without the least danger of their running away. They go into the jungle with the leadership of the tribe. Sooner or later they turn back for the home of the herd, and when they do one or two of the wild animals are sure to follow them until they are made captive in the corral. Then it is only a question of time until they are trained sufficiently to be placed on the market. The circus men have been very successful in securing the services of these young and vigorous. The management consists of a number of men in uniform such a high-class assortment of animals as is rarely seen in the country.

There is that in the preliminary appearance of the Main Shows which promises an attraction of the highest order. Everything is brand new from tent ropes to the familiar blue seats within the big tent. The circus men have been very successful in securing the services of these young and vigorous. The Main Shows have made an enviable record. During the past season the circus has thoroughly toured the New England States, Eastport, Me., the most easterly town in the United States, and a point never before visited by a railroad circus. It was one of the children of the animal and attracted exclamations of admiration from the throngs who crowded around the stable and all through the afternoon hours yesterday.

NEW MOVE BY PAPERHANGERS.

Recent Strikers Planning to Affiliate With Union No. 420.

A paperhanger who took a prominent part in the recent strike for higher wages stated yesterday that the members of the organization to which he belonged, and which inaugurated the strike will soon affiliate themselves with Union No. 420 of the Brotherhood of Paperhangers, Painters, and Decorators. This organization was recently formed by a small number of the local trades union paperhangers. It is also stated that Union No. 420 will apply for membership in the Central Labor Union, the representative trades union body in the District. Whether or not this move on the part of the strikers is made with a view of renewing the strike for an increase of wages at some future time is not known. If the union should be admitted to membership in the Central Labor Union, it would also, of course, become affiliated with the Building Trades Section of that body, and in the event of a strike receive the support of all the trades represented in the section.

Under the recent amendment to the constitution of the Central Labor Union, however, a single organization will not be permitted to inaugurate a strike. In the case of a union having a grievance the matter will be referred, under the rules of the central body, to the Grievance Committee for investigation, and upon their report both the central body and the Building Trades Section will act. Very few of the local paperhangers are out of work. All those who were out on strike returned to work when the strike was abandoned a week ago. It is said, and they have been no complaint made about the wages offered.
